

One item I just came across and never used is RigBlaster Advantage sound card / rig control device. I picked this up to use with the Yaesu FT-857d, but did not like how big it was for portable operations and went with a separate rig control cable and sound card device. The interface cable with the device is for the Yaesu, so you may need to get a different interface cable.

Asking $125 for the kit - they sell new at HRO for $200
